NAVY'S AGAIN PICKED TO WIN

Capt. Gilchrist, of Navy, Says Middies Are Fit

New York, Nov. 28.—Capt. Gilchrist, Navy's fighting right end, is confident the Middies will defeat West Point tomorrow in the annual grudge game of the Army-Navy football game.

By C. W. SWAN.

Of The Herald Staff.

New York, Nov. 28.—New York is excitedly awaiting tonight over the prospects of a big football game here tomorrow, when the Army and Navy gridiron teams clash in their annual battle.

The West Point football team, led by Lieut. C. B. Daly, arrived here at 11 o'clock today and disembarked at the Grand Central station, the delegation consisting of sixty-five people, who included the players, substitutes and coaches.

The enthusiastic rooters, of whom there were about two hundred, followed the Army team to the hotel where another crowd of their supporters, who had been awaiting their arrival, joined them. After shaking hands with a few of their friends the team went directly to its quarters.

The team will have its training table on the Belvedere, which is on the roof and will go through signal practice there.

Three hundred cadets and officers are expected from West Point tomorrow morning in time for the game. They will be met at High Bridge and go straight to the Polo Grounds.

Capt. Hoge, of the Army team, is confident of victory, but he expects a tough battle, and would not issue a statement tonight.

Secretary J. B. Porter, of the New York club, which is handling the seating arrangements for the game, stated today that 4,000 persons would witness the battle. Seats are bringing $2 a piece, and only a few are in sight.

The Naval Academy team is a remarkable aggregation in several ways. In the first place it is the heaviest team the Naval Academy has ever turned out.

Then again, the majority of the players are from the West or Middle West, while New England is not represented at all. Finally, more than two-thirds of the team's members are from one class, the first, the members of which will graduate next June and who have never, while midshipmen, undergone the sting of defeat by their great rivals from the banks of the Hudson.

It is the ambition of those members of the graduating class who are on the team, as well as those who are not, to be able to say that the Army never won from the Navy in a game of football.

If this is accomplished it will be something that the members of no other class in the history of the institution has been able to say.

The West Point cadets plan a big demonstration in the stands tomorrow. Their mascot, the old Army mule, is going down with them on the special train from West Point. Cadet J. F. Byron, of Maryland, will have charge of the singers.

The Army-Navy football game lured thousands of enthusiasts to town today, admirals, generals, captains, colonels, lieutenants, and mere privates among the arrivals, reminded the old guards of war times.

In the crowd were so many secretaries, under secretaries, assistant secretaries, senators, congressmen, and just ordinary government employees that one justified about seventeen of each kind at each street corner.

The Army is the greatest exponent of the new game in the East, and the Middies have come through the season undrained by mixing the old style game with the new.

The Navy's operations in its other games this year have been to take the ball down to the shadow of the enemy's goal by terrific line plunges, executed by its heavy back field, and then to use either the forward pass, a criss-cross play, or to hand the ball to Capt. Brown, its wonderful drop-kicker. It is unlikely that it will depart from this method in its game against the Army.

The Army team, defeated only once this season, and then by Notre Dame, has been drilled during the past week as no Army outfit ever has been drilled before. In addition to the drilling at the hands of the regular Army coaches, they have been coached by "Hurricane" Yost, the Michigan wizard, and it is said that Yost has schooled the Army boys in several new and amazing tricks, which they will use tomorrow.

The dope seems to favor the Navy, but the "edge" is not as big as it was several weeks ago. The Navy started the season with the University of Pittsburgh crowd, and then thundered along, steam-rolling all its opponents, and amassing a season's total near the 300 mark.

YANKEES DEFEAT YUMA FIVE.

Fast Game of Basket-ball Goes to Y. M. C. A. Quilt.

The Yankees' basket-ball quint was too fast of the Yumas last night and won the ball game at the end of the final half of the regular Army coaches, they have been coached by "Hurricane" Yost, the Michigan wizard, and it is said that Yost has schooled the Army boys in several new and amazing tricks, which they will use tomorrow.

PUBLIC HIT HARD AT JAMESTOWN MEET

Goliwog Wins Second Straight Victory, Beating Anvari in Selling Handicap.

Norfolk, Nov. 28.—Today's card at the Jamestown Jockey Club track was pleasing to the bookies for only two favorites came home in front. There were seven races on the card, five of which were won by horses that were not heavily played.

Cousin Puss Wins Feature Race

Birdman, Surprise of the Day, Rumps Home First in Third Race at Juxes.

El Paso, Texas, Nov. 28.—An attempted coup on the part of the Kentucky contingent failed to go through when Jimmie GILL, owned by Doerffler & West, of Louisville, and backed from an opening of 100 to 1 down to 10 to 1, finished in the race in the fifth race at Juxes this afternoon.

Not a first choice won during the day. The big surprise of the day came in the third race when Birdman, trained by Phil Chinn, and paying 15 to 1, romped home ahead of his field. Sir Harry, the favorite finished second.

COSTELLO MAY COACH ON HILL

Georgetown to Ask Clever Player to Return Next Fall, Is Report.

BIG GAME FOR CAPITAL

Army-Navy Grid Battle Likely to Be Staged at National Park in 1914.

By WILLIAM PEST.

Harry Costello, captain of the Georgetown football team for the season which closed here Thanksgiving Day, is slated to return to the Hilltop next season, to serve in the capacity of field coach, succeeding Frank Gargan, who has been in charge the past two years.

Nothing official has been done regarding the selection of Costello and nothing will be done for several weeks, but from a high authority it was learned that Costello would more than likely be asked to come back and coach in 1914, and would be paid a good salary.

Georgetown is perfectly satisfied with the work of Frank Gargan. He has done well on the Hilltop, but Gargan graduates from the law school in June and according to his own statement would not be available for football coach next fall.

If Costello is asked to come back and accept, he will work with the two other coaches, one man in the capacity of an adviser and the other to take charge of the line.

So great is the fame of Costello throughout the South that he will more than likely receive several offers from other colleges to coach football, but it is believed that if Georgetown wants him he will give his own college the preference.

Harry Costello, Moriarty, Charlie Bergin, and Ralph Donnelly are planning to go to Meriden, Conn. Costello's home, where they will play on a football team against an all-star eleven from the Silver City.

The game itself will not amount to very much, except that Meriden fans will see Costello in action, and this is what they want.

Bill Donovan, the old Detroit pitcher and present manager of the Providence International club, is in Washington for a few days calling on friends. Donovan is on his way South to make arrangements for spring training.

On the eve of the football match between the Army and Navy academies in New York came a disclosure last evening that plans were well advanced for holding this contest in Washington in the future and that for the next three years, at least, the games may be played at the National capital.

The plan has been broached to President Woodrow Wilson, of the Washington League baseball club, and the club is said to be willing to stage the contests under certain conditions. First of these, it is understood, must be a contract for three years, to reimburse the club for expenses it might be obliged to make to accommodate the enormous crowds which are attracted to these games.

Stands would be required for the seating of at least 4,000 persons, it is computed, and other facilities and conveniences would be required for the throngs.

The proposition of staging the game in Washington was broached to President Wilson by a known representative, who, on acceptance of terms by the club, stands ready to head the movement to transfer the games to this city. And the club is understood to be in receptive mood.

RIVERTON A. C. PLAYS VIGILANTS

New Jersey Independent Champions Strong Opponents for Local Boys.

When the Riverton A. C. lines up against the champion Vigilants at Vigilant Park on Sunday afternoon, the following of independent football should witness one of the best games of the season.

The Vigilants come here with a good reputation, having defeated the strong Olympia A. C. of Wilmington, Del. last Saturday week by the score of 7 to 0.

In the line-up of the visitors will be found several former Pennsylvanians and being a good player, and the local eleven should be forced to extend itself to score a win over their fast opponents.

This will be the first traveling independent team the local boys have played this season, and the fans will be able to get a good line on the boys for their annual clash with the Engineers on Sunday, December 7, at Vigilant Park.

John W. Dugan will officiate as referee, and Mr. Flag, of the University of Pennsylvania, will umpire.
